Get Ready for the Canal.

Get Ready for the Canal.

During his brief stay in Atlanta yesterday Mr.

John Barrett director general of the Pan-American Union, made a timely and cogent plea that Southers tities prepare promptly and adequately for the opening of the Panama canal. Upon such preparation, depends very largely the future of the South's commercial and industrial welfare. If this section is to enjoy its due portion of the fresh advantages the canal will create, it must be ready to seize them and turn them to definite account as they arise.

The opening of the canal will be not only a national but also a world event. Its opportunities are being wagerly awaited by all the countries of Europe and by Asia sa well as America. England, Germany, France, Holland and Japan have been systematicany studying the new trade routes and the new fields of business that are soon to be developed. They have sent smbassies to Central and South America to cultivate the friendship and ascertain the needs of the people embassies to Central and South America to cultivate the friendahip and ascertain the needs of the people in that region. They have built ships specifically with a view to handling and directing the new commers. In short, they have prepared and are still preparing for the opening of the Canal.

f. as Mr. Barrett says, the United States does not bestir itself to similar enterprise; it will find that Hamburg and Liverpool and the far East, rather than our own cities, will derive the chief benefits from the canal. Expecially urgent is the South's duly in this recard. By every natural circumstance, our section should be the prime beneficiary of the new commercial era that is soon to be unberred in. Our ports and our business centers are at the very threshold of opportunity but they must be prepared to claim and to hold what will be naturally their own.

The truth, it is gratifying to note, is being realized more and more keenly by alert commercial organisations in Georgia and neighboring States.

It is to be hoped that they will lose no time in beginning a methodical and co-operative campaign in behalf of their common interests.

Colonel Roosevelt will hardly include Mexico in a tour south.

The impression seems to be that Mexico will continue in a condition of non-recognition.

Meanwhile, busy as it is, the administration manages to keep the Washington team in third place.

Japan and China.

Far different from Japan's attitude a fortnight ago is that now assumed by some of her leading diplomats who disavow any intention on the part of their Government to force war upon China. Japan is simply seeking an apology and just indemnity, they say, for the death of certain Japanese subjects who were killed in somitions. who were killed in southern China during a battle between the regular and the rebel forces. They deny that ill-tempered or brow-beating tactics are only that lifetempered or brow-beating tactics are to be pursued. It will be remembered, however, that the original Aganaes-demand upon China was peremptory in the extreme and indicated that the young Republic must either accept the stipulated terms instantly and without negotiations or make itself liable to military attack. This harsh and uncalled for uitimatum was thought to be due chiefly to fewerish conditions at Tokio whose populace is in a continual stab of political unrest. The Government put on a blustering front, it was supposed, to divert the dangerous mood of its masses from domestic affairs, a device to which uneasy rulers have often resorted.

Be that as it may, something has evidently hapamasses from unmestic attants, a device to which uneasy rubers have often resorted.

Be that as it may, something has evidently happened to sober Japan's first pell-neil policy. It is possible that her ally, dreat Britain, has let it be known that China must not be buildored or embarussed on trivial provocations. England's and, intended, all Europe's licerests in the far Esst are rather

The Hygienic Movement In Modern Schools

"No educational movement in modern times has had more vital relation to the children, to the homes they represent and to the nation than medical supervision of school children and the general hygienic movement it typifes."

This assertion by Dr. P. P. Claxton, United This assertion by Dr. P. P. Claston, United States commissioner of cluestin, its a-true as it is sweeping and emphatic. Indeed, it would not be too much to say that medical inspection marks the most progressive and the most fruitful step over taken by the public school system in America. It is no less the portant to the home and the community than to the individual pupil. It is a long stride in social activit efficiency; it is the ones of a stronger and hap-the neonle.

pier people.

The ideal of education has always been the rolled development of human reserved. The ideal of education has always been the round-of development of human resources. This concep-tion, far from being modern, is as old as ancient Athens; and to, a greater or less degree it has always guided the world's true teachers. It is within years comparatively recent, however, that the school sys-tem of the United States has come to apply this great principle in its full breadth and practical meaning.

great principle in its full breastin and practices meaning.

Time was when the chief, if not only end, of the common school was to impart certain facts and administer a certain kind of mental training. The child's physical withere was virtually ignored. Defective eyes, defective teeth, weak lungs, impaired hearing and other such dedicancies were considered entirely without the province of the school. The fact that they interfered with the pupil's progress and stood as a detriment to his future usefulness was a considered as belies owners accessed. passively accepted as being among necessary evils; the fact that they might be corrected by a little timely attention was overlooked or certainly not ap-able, more obedient and more efficient in character as well as in mind.

Medicial jaspection, however, is but one phase of that Dr. Claston refers to as "the hygienic" of this time. It is not enough to remarky the life of defective children. The progressive school sees to it above all else that the mormal health interests of its pupils are conserved. Provision is thus made for an abundance of recreation. School buildings are constructed primarily with a view_50 comfort and sanitation. Competently directed systems of physical culture are eshablished; and it should be said that no part of a school curriculum is more important. The tremendous value of play as an educational agency is more and more clearly understood.

The working out of these ideas will make the school what it should be—a truly vital force for individual usefulness and for social strength.

Old bachelors are not all women haters; the majority are in the "Doubting Thomas" class.

A Different Huerta.

A Different fuerta.

Mexico's "Independence" day came and went tamly enough. None of the predicted demonstration against American residents materialised. There were parades at the capital and General Huert made his speech. But the occasion was far frot middle to most Mexicans, indeed, "Independence" day under the present regime must see a broad satter rather than a national featival.

There was one significant note in Huerta's man see to Congress, as note of unpertaints and is seen to Congress, as note of unpertaints and is
